Thos. S. Rhea, of Russellville, Ky., has been appointed Kentucky inspector of explosives.

The Kentucky Smith family is still holding its own. Seven new lieutenants named Smith were commissioned at Ft. Harrison Tuesday, but our own Stonewall's name is missing.

Now that the spike in a bottle of beer has been reduced to a three-penny nail, Mr. Hoover is ready to have his tasting experts look into the frappe bowls.

R. L. McFarland, of Owensboro, senator-elect, who forgot to resign another office, is trying to hold on, though ineligible, and his Republican opponent will contest.

Much doubt is expressed of the truth of the report that the Czar's daughter is coming to America on a Pacific steamer. But Mrs. Carver, of Denver, has gone to San Francisco to meet her and act as her chaperon.

There is a report that Dr. H. A. Garfield, fuel administrator, who let the coal men make a monkey out of him, is to resign and be succeeded by Homer H. Johnson, of Cleveland. All right, "Mr. Johnson, turn him loose" and see what you can do with the coal barons.

Osmend Kelly Ingram, Pratt City, Ala., the gunner's mate lost overboard when a German submarine attacked the American destroyer Cassin in the war zone on Oct. 16, deliberately sacrificed his own life to reduce the risk to his mess mates. He delayed a moment to throw overboard some depth bombs on the ship, when he saw the torpedo coming, to lessen the danger.

Arnold Neuschwander, of Cincinnati, has been selected by the Board of Public Safety for chief of the Louisville fire department, and his appointment is approved by Mayor Smith. An imported fire chief, especially one with an unpronounceable German name, is not likely to inspire the fullest confidence. There ought to be some citizen of Louisville capable of filling an office of this responsibility.

SRTAUS HOST TO NEGRO SOLDIERS

Jewish Philanthropist Will Entertain 50 at His Home To Show Impartiality.

New York, Nov. 28.—Nathan Straus, who is campaigning to raise $1,000,000 in this county for welfare work among the Jews in national service, will entertain 50 negro soldiers from the national army Camp Upton at his home here on Thanksgiving day, it was announced. It was stated he had decided to do this as the way of impartiality in welfare work which, he had emphasized, ought not to be confined to aiding men of one race or color.

STEPHEN EVERETT

Taking the Pasteur Treatment at Bowling Green.

City Tax Collector, S. E. Everett, of Hopkinsville, who was recently bitten by a dog thought to be mad, came here by advice of physicians to take the Pasteur treatment at the State Laboratory. He is reported getting on all right, and after the course of treatment no further danger apprehended of his contracting the horrible malady. —Bowling Green News.

Only Hopkinsville Men Whose Names Are in the List of New Officers.

OTHERS FROM KENTUCKY

A Total of 1600 Are Given Commissions and Camp Closes.

Indianapolis, Nov. 28. — Sixteen hundred men were awarded commissions in the United States army at Ft. Benjamin Harrison Tuesday. They were young men who have taken the course at the officers' training camp.

A few of the men were made majors, many were commissioned captains and a great many more first and second lieutenants. As each man received his commission and assignment of post of duty he secured his baggage and rushed off for special trains to take them to their home states.

Following are the Western Kentucky men in the list:

CAPTAINS.

Thomas J. Reid, Jr., Paducah, infantry, O. R. C.
Wm. B. Wilson, Central City, infantry, N. A.

FIRST LIEUTENANTS.

William L. Brown, Henderson, field signal corps.
Earl C. Clements, Morganfield, infantry, O. R. C.
Jesse K. Freeman, Central City, aviation section, O. R. C.
Wm. H. Givens, Madisonville, infantry, O. R. C.
Clyde Grady, Smith Mills, aviation section, O. R. C.
Henry L. Kerr, Calliouu, infantry, O. R. C.

Joseph M. Lewis, Owensboro, infantry, O. R. C.
Cornelius R. Lisenby, Dawson Springs, infantry, O. R. C.

George B. Ramsey, Dawson Springs, infantry, O. R. C.
Enoch F. White, Owensboro, infantry, O. R. C.
Bailey Allen Radford, Howell, infantry, O. R. C.

SECOND LIEUTENANTS.

Wm. W. Waller, Morganfield, infantry, O. R. C.
Alvin C. Reis, Evansville, aviation section signal corps, O. R. C.
Carl Adams, Elkton, O. R. C.

Tubercular Cottage Burns.

Twenty-nine inmates of the building for tubercular patients at the state hospital for the insane at Lakeland, narrowly escaped cremation when the structure was destroyed by fire Monday. Attendants who found the wooden building a mass of flames carried out 15 men and 14 women to safety. The fire is believed to have been caused by sparks from the furnace. The loss is estimated at $18,000.

St. Joseph Hospital at Bowling Green, will be closed Dec. 1.

Insurance rates have again been lowered 5 per cent. on account of improvement of submarine dangers.

Austro-Germans in New Offensive Along Piave River Menace Venice, City of Italian Art Treasures, Traditions and Canals

Although the Austro-German forces have been halted by the Italians at the Piave River and there is now every indication that the Italians will hold the line—the objective of the Teuton drive in this region is Venice, little more than twenty miles from the scene of the actual fighting. The city of art treasures, one of the glorious cities of Italy, is menaced. Here is a scene in the heart of Venice—the Rialto and the Grand Canal—which has entranced tourists for centuries. This is one of the centers of attraction in the beautiful city of canals. That the Italians will lay down their lives to the last man in the protection of this famous city is certain, and the renewed energy displayed by their armies during the past few days indicate their resolve to hold their lines to the last to save Venice.

SEASON IS A FINE ONE

And Opening of the Tobacco Market Next Tuesday is Eagerly Awaited.

HIGH PRICES EXPECTED

Enormous Crop Will Be Marketed in Hopkinsville the Coming Season.

The rain Tuesday has caused the best tobacco season since September and insures a good opening of the loose floor season Dec. 4. Farmers in the Hopkinsville territory, of Christian, Todd, Trigg, Muhlenberg, Logan, Stewart and Montgomery counties are busy stripping tobacco this week and hundreds of loads are expected in next Tuesday.

Growers are anticipating high prices for tobacco this year. Last year top leaf sold as high as $20 per hundred and it is believed that the better grade of leaf will reach much higher this year. The general average last year at this market was a fraction over $10.48 per hundred.

Stocks of tobacco in all foreign countries are exceedingly low and if ocean shipping is improved, buyers assert that they they cannot say just how high the dark tobaccos will sell, because the dark tobaccos are used exclusively in all foreign countries, especially in England, Scotland, Italy and France.

HANDS CUT BY BROKEN GLASS

Dr. Lovan Injured When His Auto Collides With a Wagon.

Dr. G. W. Lovan, of Crofton, was slightly injured in an automobile accident here late Tuesday afternoon. He had started home in his car, with a young man named McCord driving the machine, and as they were crossing the bridge on North Main they collided with a wagon. The wind shield of the automobile was broken and Dr. Lovan's hands were cut by the glass. Mr. McCord escaped injury. Dr. Lovan's injuries were dressed and he was able to resume the journey in a short while.

Six German airplanes were brought down Saturday and 9 British planes are missing.

WILL FIGHT ALL WINTER

U. S. Divisional Commanders, Back From Europe, Tell of Plans.

BYNG'S IS FLANKING PLAN

British Digging Into Hindenburg Lines From Left of Wedge Driven Last Week.

Washington, Nov. 28.—The British drive on Cambrai will be followed up relentlessly by similar offensives along the western front in the opinion of officers' familiar with what is in prospect in France. Announcement already has been made abroad that this winter would see no halt in operations and with the return of American divisional commanders from observation tours in France it has become known certainly that the French and British armies will prosecute mid-winter campaigns, such as never before attempted. The Cambrai attack was forced home despite the mud.

Meager official reports of the progress of the drive on Cambrai indicate clearly that Gen. Byng's forces are aiming at a great encircling movement. With a wide wedge driven into the Cambrai front, the British commander apparently is working his way behind the German lines on his left flank. If he succeeds in penetrating deeply in that direction, many officers here believe he will force a retirement by the Germans on a wide front.

Meanwhile the British and French pressure farther toward the Belgian coast is increasing. A new offensive effort there is expected as a part of the whole plan on which the allies are engaged in forcing the Germans back from a long section of the coast where submarine bases are located.

Sues for Legal Separation.

Mrs. Catherine McNamara Breslin has filed suit for divorce from her husband, P. J. Breslin. She also prays for alimony in the sum of $3,000. Plaintiff alleges that her husband has left her, and that he treated her "in a penurious and cruel fashion." They were married here on Sept. 11, last.

Robert E. Fleming, Jr., of Louisville, of Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, was killed in action November 6, at Passchendaele, Flanders.

CAMDEN GOES TO HOPKINS

Former Senator Has Been In Ill Health For The Past Year.

Former Senator Johnson N. Camden, of "Spring Hill," Woodford county, left Monday for Baltimore, where he will be under treatment at the Johns Hopkins hospital.

Senator Camden has been in ill health for the last year, and recently his condition became so aggravated that his physicians in Kentucky advised his removal to Baltimore for treatment.

TIRED OF DELAY

Some Drafted Men Are Reporting at Camp Taylor Unannounced.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 28.—When a man has been drafted in the first call and has not been sent to Camp Taylor he can make application to his local board, which will order him sent to the camp. This became known when it was learned that drafted men have been reporting at the rate of three or four a day for the past week at the camp.

General staff officers explained it by saying that local boards have the authority to send a man to camp if he wants to go.

No word has been received as to when the last 14,000 men will report to the camp. It is believed it will be well into December before they are ordered in.

No one around the camp seems able to offer an explanation of the delay. The intelligence section says there are plenty of warm overcoats and clothing in the warehouses waiting for them, and they know of no delay.

VOLUNTEERS FOR FRANCE.
The war department has asked the Eighty-fourth division for volunteers for immediate service in France as "billeting officers." More than a dozen members of the division have offered their services.

Transportation is being arranged, and they are expected to leave in a few days. A billeting officer is one who precedes the troops to the villages and arranges quarters.

The names of the officers who have volunteered will be announced soon.

Calls For Help.

County and City Councils of Defense were urged by Provost Marshal General Crowder to assist the local exemption boards in the task of classifying the nearly 10,000,000 men subject to the selective draft.

HUN OFFICERS IN RUSSIA

Kaiser's Trusted Men Stand at Lenine's Elbow as Advisors to the Premier.

TO MAKE RUSSIA AN ALLY

Teutons to Try to Line Up Slavs as Fighters For the Central Power

London, Nov. 28.—Information was received here from Petrograd that a number of German staff officers have arrived there and are acting in an advisory capacity to Nikolai Lenine, the Bolshevik premier.

With Germans openly advising Lenine and his followers, it is assumed that efforts will be made to carry Russia into the position of an active ally of the central powers. This might produce a most serious situation by making available to Germany the vast stores of food, oil and cotton of Russia, and even though the Teutons found it impossible to convert the disorganized country into an active military ally, the million or more German, Austrian and Turkish prisoners held in Russia would be freed for services with the Teutonic armies.

Ever since the overturning of the Kerensky government military strategists here have been anticipating such conditions as now exist in Russia. This is one of the principal problems with which the inter-allied war conference in Paris is expected to deal.

Without being bound by any special instructions, Col. House and his military adviser, Gen. Bliss, will cooperate with the representatives of the entente powers in framing some policy to meet the situation.

Strong hope is felt that an attempt by Lenine to turn Russia over to Germany will meet with powerful resistance at home. Any action decided upon by the allies will be directed at the Petrograd extremists and not at the people of Russia.

Reports coming from the Don cosacks country that Hetman Kaledines may yet be master of the situation through the control of food which is necessary to maintain any military force in the north of Russia, have encouraged military experts here to believe that in spite of the aid of his German advisers, Lenine and his faction may be brought to terms.

FOLLOWING THE FLAG.

John Carter Hanbery, of Clarksville, is one of the new first lieutenants commissioned at Ft. Oglethorpe. He has been assigned to the 37th Infantry.

Owensboro men who have been commissioned and assigned are as follows:

FIRST LIEUTENANTS.

Joe M. Lewis, field artillery, Camp Sherman, Chillicothe.
Enoch White, infantry, Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, Texas.
S. P. Brown, infantry, Camp Funston at Fort Riley.

SECOND LIEUTENANTS.

George T. Wyche, infantry, Camp Green, Charlotte, N. C.
Wm. C. Warfield, a former Hopkinsville boy, has been commissioned a second lieutenant and ordered to Ft. Douglas, Arizona.

Alex L. Dade, Jr., son of General Alex L. Dade, has been commissioned as a second lieutenant in the Signal Corps.

Lieutenants Sinclair Daniels, Polk Atkinson, Wisdom Rudolph and Clive Wilcox arrived this morning from Ft. Oglethorpe, where they have been in training for the past three months. —Clarksville Leaf-Chronicle.

Mayor Eosse, of Evansville, put on sale yesterday 1,000 rabbits at 20 cents.

The former Czar's daughter in Romanoff from her native land is very sensibly roaming towards America.

After being hit over the head with a government club, the paper trust has agreed to be good for 4 months.

If Senator Stone is really sincere, let him help but put the rollers under La Follette.

The government will shortly issue
an order limiting the alcohol in beer
to three per cent.

Sir Leander Starr Jameson, leader of the Jameson raid on the Transvaal
in 1895, shortly before Boer war, died Monday in London, aged 64.

The French and British reinforcements have arrived in Italy and the Kaiser's big push is at an end. The invaders will be lucky to turn back with whole hides.

The British are now within three and a half miles of Jerusalem. The Turks are preparing to make their last stand just outside the city on the west and north.

The Henderson Gleaner charges that some of the local grocers are selling sugar that cost them less than 8 cents at 12½ cents a pound, although the government limits them to a 6 per profit. Most of them sell at 10 cents a pound.

Thomas McHargue, a Kentuckian in a Canadian regiment, fastened a small American flag to his bayonet in the charge at Vinny Ridge, in which he was killed. His body was found in a pile with three dead Huns killed in his last stand.

Senator Stone, who was one of the laggards in declaring war on Germany, is now back in Washington urging that Congress lose no time in declaring war on Austria, Turkey and Bulgaria. Somebody has evidently cited the Missourian.

President Wilson has approved a form of certificate of service which will be given to men who have served without pay on local, district and other civilian boards which are part of the selective service machinery. Governors of the various states will be asked to designate the men who have thus given their service.

Newsprint paper manufacturers representing 85 per cent. of the print paper output in the country will sell newsprint to publishers at 3 cents a pound until April 1, and after that at a price to be fixed by the federal trade commission, under an agreement reached Monday between the government and six or seven paper manufacturers charged with violation of the Sherman anti-trust law. The decree was affirmatively presented by the government and was consented to by all seven defendants. Counsel for several of the men under indictment stated in court that there had been no conscious violation of either the spirit or the letter of the Sherman law.

Safety Life Preserver.

A new life preserver includes with the cork jacket a complete breathing apparatus. This is in the form of a light metal chamber, connected with a spout which rises two or three feet above the water level. The metal chamber is also connected with a tube which is joined to the face mask.

A Good-Hearted
Man

By ALAN HINSDALE

(Copyright, 1917, Western Newspaper Union.)

My brother Jim and I inherited enough money from father to go into business and we set up a hardware store. Not having any custom to start on I went out beating up trade, leaving Jim in the store to do the inside work. I was a pretty good salesman, if I say it myself, but Jim made a mess of his part of the business. He did not keep at the financial part of it at all. He would trust any one, and the consequence was that we were soon loaded down with bad debts.

One evening after business hours we figured up and found that we couldn't go on. Jim had advanced money to certain parties who had played upon his feelings. He agreed to go out of the concern, assuming those debts and leave me to try to wind up the concern. He took himself off to a neighboring town and I went to work trying to get in the bad debts he had made.

There were so many of them, large and small, that it would take me a lifetime to run them all down. So I hired a collector. I paid him a hundred dollars a month and at the end of the first month he turned in $75. This was not paying, so I dismissed him and hired another collector. He made a worse failure than the other man.
I hired five men in succession, then switched off and a woman having applied for the position I engaged her.

Since Miss Julia Sparks had a winsome way with her I believed she would succeed where others had failed. And she did. The first month she worked for me she got in $900, the second month $1,000 and the third $2,- 300. She continued her work till she had got in every outstanding debt.

Jim's assuming the loans he had made didn't help me at all. He could neither collect them nor pay them himself. I was sued as his partner on one of them and the case went against me. So I was liable for them all.

"I wonder," said Miss Sparks one day, "if I couldn't collect those debts for your brother, so as to enable him to pay them to you."

"If you can and will," I replied, "I will grant you any favor you ask."
"Well, I'll try," she said. "Can you give me a list of them?"

I gave her the list and she started out to see what she could do. She found it very hard work. The debtors were mostly "dead-beats," who had imposed on Jim's good nature, and some of them had no money to pay with. Those who had the money were skinflints, who never paid until they were compelled to at the end of a lawsuit.

Miss Sparks started out on her work.
The first day she succeeded in getting three dollars that Jim had loaned a young sport who got rid of it the same day at pool. I think he must have gone sweet on the collector, or he never would have paid the loan in the world. Miss Sparks averred that he had won some money at poker the night before and she caught him in the nick of time. Three days later she got in two amounts totalling eight dollars. The amounts she collected were sometimes paid to her, but these were small ones. All the large ones were paid to Jim.

At the end of three months' hard work Miss Sparks told me that she had got in 50 per cent of the amount, 45 per cent having been paid directly to Jim. The remaining 25 per cent was uncollectable, either because the debtors were without any means whatever or could not be found. The amount Miss Sparks had collected—sixteen hundred dollars—she turned into me. She asked me, should Jim turn in the amounts paid to him would I, upon his promise to turn a deaf ear to applicants for loans and sell only good buyers, take him back into the firm. After refusing for some time I at last gave in. I was puzzled to understand why she was interested in Jim's reinstatement.

She came into the store the next afternoon with a pair of red eyes, showing that she had been weeping. When I asked her what was the trouble
she told me that she had gone to Jim for the amounts paid him and found that he had loaned or given away every cent that had been paid him.

Her interest in Jim and her connection with this matter remained to be cleared up. She and Jim were old acquaintances. He had loaned her money, so that she was one of the debtors. She had fallen in love with him, and knowing of his difficulties resolved to get him out of them. She had collected all the slow debts he had made for the firm, and then had to get to work on the amounts he had loaned.

She was much crestfallen at the result.

"If you hadn't got stuck on Jim," I said, "I would ask you to marry me.
You've not married Jim, have you?"

"Yes, I have," was the reply.

"Well, you and Jim come in here. Jim can be salesman under you, you to decide whom to trust. I'll be outside man. How does that suit you?"

She threw her arms about my neck and cried some more. The firm was reorganized and turned out a great success.

KEPT HER AWAKE

The Terrible Pains in Back and Sides. Cardui Gave Relief.

Marksville, La.—Mrs. Alice Johnson, of this place, writes: "For one year I suffered with an awful misery in my back and sides. My left side was hurting me all the time. The misery was something awful."

I could not do anything, not even sleep at night. It kept me awake most of the night. . . I took different medicines, but nothing did me any good or relieved me until I took Cardui. . .

I was not able to do any of my work
for one year and I got worse all the time, was confined to my bed off and on. I got so bad with my back that when I stooped down I was not able to straighten up again. . . I decided I would try Cardui.
By time I had taken the entire bottle
I was feeling pretty good and could straighten up and my pains were nearly all gone.

I shall always praise Cardui. I continued taking it until I was strong and well. If you suffer from pains due to female complaints, Cardui may be just what you need. Thousands of women who once suffered in this way now praise
Cardui for their present good health.
Give it a trial. NC-133

BIRDS OF PREY ARE NEEDED

Australia Suffering Loss of Crops and Other Damage Through Lack of Feathered Scavengers.

Australia is regretting the laws passed some 30 years ago ordering the slaughter of hawks, owls, carrion crows or other birds that prey on young animals and birds. For these have now been almost wiped out,
with the result, as described by W.
P. Pyecraft in the Illustrated London
News, that "decaying bodies, numerous on sheep farms, have been left to be demolished by the larvae of blow-flies, which have now increased to such an appalling extent as to threaten the sheep on the runs with destruction, the animals becoming 'fly-blown' and eaten up alive by this dangerous pest."

"Similarly, Victoria is complaining of the difficulty of saving the immense wheat stacks of the country from the plague of mice, which the absence of their natural enemies has be-gotten. Some protection has been secured by inclosing the stacks with in sheets of galvanized iron, leaving convenient holes opposite tins sunk
in the ground and filled with water.
In this way as many as 10,000 mice
have been caught in a single night.
At Minyip recently the catch for two nights weighed rather more than a ton. Contemplate the cost of the corn bill for a ton of mice for a single week, and weigh this against the cost of a properly organized bureau of ornithology!"

And Mr. Pyecraft warns Great Britain that she is rapidly nearing a similar condition by reason of her passion for protecting game birds against owls, hawks and their like.

NEW LIFEBOAT.

A new kind of lifeboat is a huge steel buoy which weighs 2,000 pounds and will hold 40 persons, as well as water and provisions sufficient for a week or ten days. The buoy has an anchor which serves as ballast and it is claimed to be unsinkable. If the buoy is kept on the deck of a vessel, all that is necessary in case of accident is that the passengers climb in. The buoy will launch itself as the vessel sinks.

NOT QUITE PLUCKED.

Sally Farmer—If that summer boarder proposes to me tonight what shall I tell him, ma?

Mrs. Farmer—Put him off for a left for another week's board.

WHEREIN THE RESEMBLANCE.

"Does she? She's forever at the looking glass."

SUGGESTIVE DEPRECIATION.

Tom—What do you think of the BUSINESS

OPPORTUNITY.

I have a client that has a splendid mercantile business for sale. He is doing on an average about $8,000 per annum. Has post office in connection with store; also 1.1m of 53 acres in high state of cultivation; splendid house, stock barn, tobacco barn and all other necessary improvements.
This is situated 1-2 mile from school and church on pike in splendid neighborhood.

One of the best combined business propositions I know of. A good busness man can easily clear on the store alone $10,000 a year. The present owner is compelled to sell on account of other business interests he has.

Evolution of the Wheel.

Naturally, there was a first man to eat an oyster, and there must have been some heroic pioneer to tackle every edible article that is known to civilization today. High authority has bestowed eulogy on the man who invented the wheel, and some have gone so far as to assert that this unidentified genius was the greatest benefactor of the race, but we may doubt if the wheel was really an invention. It seems more likely to have been a gradual discovery, the result of a slow, evolutionary process for which no man or group of men could claim the credit.—Exchange.

Shameful Libel.

The first man to use a bathtub as a coal bin was not an untutored immigrant, as many persons suppose, but a conservative old New Englander, who regarded the new-fangled tub as a sinful folly and remained loyal to the Saturday night washtub in the kitchen. The new bathroom, being off the living room, was found to be convenient for storage, and they used the tub for keeping the coal for the Franklin stove.—Exchange.

New Italian
Cabinet in Crisis

With the appointment of Professor Vittorio Orlando as Italian Premier,
the cabinet of that country was at once reorganized, the new premier retaining his title as Minister of the Interior, a post he has held practically since the beginning of the war. He was appointed in the Boselli cabinet originally. As Premier, he will undertake to revise the scheme of government so far as the administrative policies are concerned. The new government will have to deal with the crisis developing as a result of the recent defeat of the army at the hands of the Austro-Germans.

CITY TAXES.

Artificial Leg Made 300 B. C.

There is in the museum of the Royal College of Surgeons, Lincoln's Inn Fields, London, an artificial leg, made about 300 B. C., of bronze, wood and iron. Who has not heard of the famous "Iron Hand" made in Nuremberg, Germany, in 1504, for the German knight, Goltz von Berlichingen? Among the old-time Indians ears, noses and lips of plaster were quite common, one of their ordinary punishments being to cut off these useful parts of the human anatomy. Greek and Roman veterans who had lost a leg or an arm in the wars used to replace them by substitutes, and Plinius speaks of a Roman soldier who—about 160 years
B. C.—was famous for the wooden hand with which he was still able to fight as an able swordsman. In 1604 the Duke of Brunswick had to use an artificial hand.

President of Portugal Visits Spain;
Welcomed As Neighbor By Alphonso

Seldom, if ever, have the rulers of Spain and Portugal come together on neighborly visits. It was only recently that matters of grave importance caused Dr. Bernardino Machado, president of Portugal, to visit the King Alphonso of Spain. The picture shows them together at a railway station in Madrid, where they reviewed the Spanish troops. The picture is one of the rare photographs of European rulers which have come to this country recently.

BUNGALOW FOR TWO

By LOUISE OLIVER.

"What you goin' to do tonight, Jimmy?"

Jimmy, who had stopped at the drug store for a pocketful of cigars, turned and faced Murrin, keen-eyed and clever of fingers, but well dressed and with a certain persuasive manner that always got under Jimmy's skin.

Jimmy had started out with good intentions. A walk, a movie, then home to bed. It was Dutch luck to run into Murrin now! It would be hard to get away; hard, because he knew he didn't want to get away. He wanted very much to go where Murrin was going—to Silver King's poolroom—where the crowd usually hung out, and before the evening was over through a movable panel into Silver's back room, where green-topped tables were popular in various ways, according to the way one most preferred to lose money. And Jimmy had his month's salary in his pocket to lose. For, of course, he would lose it if he stayed with Murrin and the crowd; he always did. That was why he had determined on a new leaf. He was tired of being strapped. Besides, he had been having visions lately of something different from his unattractive life in a bricked-up boarding house.

"Hello, Murrin, you're a stranger. Where have you been?"

"Oh, inventin' a submarine killer. What you goin' to do tonight?"

"Nothing much."

"Neither am I. Let's do it together."

Jimmy considered. "No; I don't believe I can, Murrin. I sort of have a date."

"All right. I'll walk part way with you."

Again Jimmy considered. A plan struck him. It was suggested by the open directory on the counter.

"Give me an envelope and stamp, Charlie," he called to the clerk. "Just wait a minute, Murrin; I've got to send a note to a friend of mine. I'll go with you then." And he ran his eye over the pages of the directory. Parsons was the first name his eye found. Patricia, Miss, 338 West Twenty-fifth street.

And slipping five twenty dollar bills inside the envelope, he addressed it and dropped it into the mail box beside the door.

Murrin had watched the operation with a scowl. "Come to think of it, I guess I'll go down to the aquarium and watch the porpoise blow himself. Good night," said he, striding out.

Jimmy grinned rather sheepishly as he looked from his friend's retreating figure to the mail box wherein lay most of the money he had in the world, addressed to a person he had never heard of.

At six o'clock the next evening Miss Parsons unlocked her door and stepped on the rather thick envelope. She was too tired to be very curious about anything, and threw it on the bureau and did a little wondering while she took off her things and pinned up a few wayward curls. Miss Parsons was very pretty—she was neither seventy nor seventeen. She was an accountant in a furniture store and twenty-two years old.

When she drew the money out of the envelope she was not surprised. It was merely a mistake, she assured herself, in spite of the fact that it bore her name. She needed a new hat and shoes and a lot of things, but—well the money was not hers so there was no use considering.

At the end of two weeks no owner—nor donor—had put in an appearance. Then Patricia began to be puzzled, as to what to do with it.

Then one day she made an investment. It was a white willow breakfast room set with touches of delft blue. She had admired it in the furniture store for weeks and pictured to herself a sunny little bungalow in the country and a tiny dining-room with roses at the window and the furniture within.

In a month came another $100. Jimmy had determined to cure himself of gambling, for his soul's sake, and decided that the price was not too high. He'd only lose it anyway and the idea appealed to his sporting blood.

Then along came another bargain—a living room set of wicker—just the thing for a bungalow. It was purchased and stored with the willow. Things were looking up for Patricia. A third check bought a charming little bedroom set, for Jimmy was doing it right and sending a hundred every month.

Then one day Patricia decided to look for a house. Wasn't it odd that it was Jimmy's real estate office she happened to choose and that the minute Jimmy saw her he decided that he would show her the listed houses himself.

Of course he discovered she was Patricia Parsons, and Patricia discovered that it was Jimmy's money she had used. And when they found a love of a cottage, roses and all, and pictured how it would look with the new furniture, what other way was there to end it? Can't you guess? Ask Cupid.

Trench Warfare in Europe Holds No
Surprises For Young Officers of Army

Trench warfare in Europe will hold no surprises for American officers who have had the advantages of full military training at camps in the United States. For a part of the course actually brings the men into the open country where they build trenches and dugouts and fight mimic battles against imaginary foes or friendly brother officers. This picture, taken at one of the military camps "somewhere in the United States," shows the embryo officers getting first hand instruction in trench building. They are doing the digging themselves, in order that they may be able to teach others or direct American soldiers in the work on European battlefields.

3 Per Cent Interest on Time Deposits.

Increase of Only About Twenty Cents in Addition to the Actual Outlay for Material.

"In the specific case of the teaspoon, all of this study, labor and loving craftsmanship goes into the converting of a single ounce of silver which costs today in the American market about 80 cents per ounce," notes Art World Magazine, in discussing the art of the silversmith. "This same ounce of silver is ultimately delivered to our critical and exacting public at the rate, in the practical, finished product, of only 100 cents per ounce—an increase of 20 cents for the designing, the craftsmanship, the shipping, the selling and final delivery."

"It has been fairly estimated that if but one teaspoon were made and sold, irrespective of the value of the artistic endeavor that goes into the production, that which really sells for $1, or $1.25, would cost—valued in pure material and mechanical workmanship—close to $1,000. A dozen teaspoons honestly valued at $1,000—and sold for $1 each! If this fact were more generally known it would doubtless add much to the appreciation of our common table flatware."

"Only because so many of our American children are born with a silver spoon in their mouths, die with one not very far away, and use one all the time in intervening life, is it at all possible to produce and sell this intrinsically valuable article at a price which is astonishingly so slightly above the cost of the raw material."

Rear Admiral Usher, U. S. N., has co-operated with Mrs. Iselin and has endorsed her work.

Altoona Mother Tells of Her Experience With Vick's VapoRub.

Every mother owes it to her family to investigate the Southern remedy—Vick's VapoRub Salve. In the South it is universally used in place of injurious internal medicines for treating all forms of cold troubles—from head or chest colds, down to sore throat, bronchitis or incipient pneumonia. In addition, it has a hundred uses in the home as a soothing, cooling salve. Usually croup is relieved in fifteen minutes and most colds over night.

Become Bridegrooms In Surprise Weddings—One Here Tuesday, the Other In Clarksville Yesterday.

ARE OFF ON THEIR WEDDING TRIPS

City Commissioner William R. Wicks Weds Miss Lena Jones—Spending Honeymoon In Chicago.

Commissioner of Finance Wm. R. Wicks and Miss Lena Jones, youngest daughter of Col. and Mrs. E. D. Jones, were married yesterday morning at the home of Rev. E. S. Smith, pastor of the Christian church, on South Main street. The young couple drove to the minister's home and were married in time to catch an outgoing train for Chicago, where they will spend a few days.

The groom is Commissioner of Finance and has just been re-elected for another term. He is one of the city's leading young men, being prominent in lodge circles and widely popular. For a number of years he was deputy county clerk and has filled other positions of importance. His bride is one of the city's popular and lovable girls, a daughter of one of the wealthiest landowners in the county, and is a charming young lady.

Cook—Buckner.

Hon. Robt. A. Cook, member of the Kentucky Board of Commissioners of the eleemosynary institutions, and Miss Mildred Buckner, of Clarksville, were married last evening at 6 o'clock, at the bride's home. After a brief trip they will be at home in this city. The groom is a young attorney and at present a Republican member of the board to which he was appointed nearly two years ago. Previous to that he represented Christian county in the Legislature. Mr. Cook is a young man of unusual ability and is an orator of more than a local reputation. He is a native of this county and is prominent in lodge circles and has a wide circle of friends. His bride is a younger sister of Mrs. B. G. Nelson and is a daughter of the late W. F. Buckner. She is a representative of one of the most prominent Kentucky families, and is widely known as one of Clarksville's pretty and most attractive young ladies.

American Packers Now in Great Government "Trust"

At no time in the commercial history of the United States has there been such a "trust" as that which is now being fostered by the government under the direct supervision of Joseph P. Cotton, a lawyer. The "Trust" is readily admitted to be the greatest ever known, and it includes all of the packers of the country. The plants where foodstuffs are put up are all included, and, indeed, all are included. Mr. Cotton, who has just assumed direction of the "monopoly," says that the packers of foodstuffs have all entered him of full co-operation or a harsh that admits of no escape from which the public must suffer.

LITTLE GRAY HOUSE

By HILDA MORRIS.

The house was a very small one, standing lonely and deserted at the turn of the country road. Mildred came upon it early one morning in June when she was searching for a quiet place to read and dream.

Mildred was a teacher, and she had come to spend her long summer vacation at Willow Lake hotel. She was a slim girl, pale and pretty, with a soft charm that needed only rest and fresh air to make it bloom into real beauty.

The little gray house looked like a haven peaceful enough for anyone. It was shaded by a huge oak tree, and the patch of lawn before it was green and smooth as velvet. A large "For Rent" sign decorated its front window.

Mildred climbed the steps and peered in at the window. She saw a clean-swept room with painted white woodwork and an old white wooden mantel. There was a glimpse of a blue-walled kitchen on beyond.

"Oh!" the girl exclaimed to herself. "I do want to see the rest of it. I wonder—"

She turned the knob softly and found that the door was unlocked, so she explored the quaint interior, growing more enamored of the place at every step.

It was not hard to find the man who had charge of it—he lived a half a mile farther down the road.

"That's the Gordons' house," he explained. "They're all dead now except one young feller that's moved to the city. He wants it took good care of, and he'll rent it cheap to anybody'll do that."

"Oh, I will take good care of it," Mildred assured him, smiling. "I'll even paper some of the walls."

So she got the house for the absurd rental of $7 a month—less than half the sum she paid for her stuffy room in the hotel. Mildred had a little furniture in storage in the city. She sent for this, and set about the process of redecorating the sunny rooms.

By the time the living room was complete, with its chintz curtains, braided rugs and gate-legged table, it was as delightful a room as any woman could wish.

There came a dusty August day with a hint of thunder and rain in the air. There came also a letter—a most unwelcome letter to Mildred in her little house. It was from the principal of the private school where she was a teacher. It said that she was expected to return to her post on the 15th of September.

She lit a fire—it was really cool for August, and she was always ready to light a fire at the slightest excuse because it looked so cozy.

Mildred sat before the fire, trying her very best to think of some plan by which she could escape her year at the school. If only she could paint, or write, or do some clever thing to earn a living at home! The threat of rain had become a reality. It began to fall in sudden torrents. As Mildred stood at the window she saw a man come down the road, running. He turned suddenly, and sought shelter under the big oak tree before her house. At that moment a glimmer of lightning flashed out. Mildred rushed to the door.

"Please come in!" she called. "You might be struck under that tree. It isn't safe."

"All right," he called back in a pleasant voice, and in two or three bounds he was on the veranda, shaking himself like a big Newfoundland.

"I'm pretty wet," he smiled. "I hope—"

But Mildred interrupted him with a sudden exclamation.

"David Gordon!" she cried. "How-ever did you come to me—here?"

"I came to see my house," he replied, "and you. Didn't you know, Mildred, that I was your landlord?"

"No!" she said. "I didn't. What-ever do you live at Mrs. Green's for when you have a place like this?"

"Why I couldn't live here alone," he said, "and make it look like this! Goodness, Mildred, what have you done to the old place? It hasn't been so homelike—since mother died!"

Mildred laughed, a little ruefully.

"I know it's homelike," she said. "And the worst of it is I've got to leave it and go back to work very soon. I—hate to give it up."

David nodded, a little absently. He was looking at the brown-haired girl in the blue gown and thinking how lovely she was, how well she fitted into the cozy little room.

"Why don't you move in yourself?" Mildred was saying.

"I couldn't—now," he said. "It's rented. It's your house. There's just one condition under which I might live here. That is—"

She waited, wondering, her heart curiously a-flutter.

"That you will stay here with me. Could you marry me, Mildred, even though I offered you nothing better than this little house, and love?"

"Oh, David!" she whispered. "I—could. And nobody in all the world could wish for any more!"

SQUEEZE GATES ARE USEFUL

For Acute Sickness, Retention of Afterbirth, or Any Symptoms of Disease It Is Handy.

On dairy and stock farms a well-selected building for a hospital is always useful. It is seldom needed for calving cows, or for cases of lameness or ordinary accident. But for acute sickness, retention of afterbirth, abortion, or any symptoms of contagious diseases it is essential.

Whether you can have such a building or not, an arrangement similar to one used at the Illinois experiment station, known as the squeeze gates, affords an excellent method of holding cattle for treatment.

In a great many cases, especially with young cattle, they are chased until they become heated and excited; then are roped and thrown. This is not only detrimental to the animal but often puts them in a very awkward position to work upon.

With squeeze gates it is possible, with the aid of feed, to coax the animal quietly into the stanchion and use the gates if the case demands them. When with milch cows that are more docile there is more or less danger, by the sudden movements of the cow, of breaking an arm when treating the genital organs.

For cases of abortion, where the genital organs should be constantly treated and freely dressed with antiseptic solutions, the squeeze gates are worth many times their initial cost, for when treating such cases the two gates are swung around and by means of ratcheted props the animal is held so it cannot move sideways, thus allowing the attendant to work with the greatest degree of satisfaction.

CARING FOR ANIMAL WOUNDS

Ohio Veterinary Surgeon Gives Concise Directions for Care and Treatment of Injuries.

Animals on the farm are continually being wounded. The first step to take in the cure of a wound is to promptly explore the parts with a view to ascertaining if there is a foreign body; then arrest the hemorrhage to prevent waste of blood, writes W. C. Fair, veterinary surgeon, in Ohio Farmer. The latter can often be done by twisting the blood vessel or tying it, or by compression. The wound should then be washed with an antiseptic solution of some kind. It is important that the wound have proper drainage. It may be necessary to do a little cutting before good drainage is obtained. A wound that "pockets" seldom heals quickly. Small wounds about the head and neck should first be cleaned, peroxide of hydrogen applied (stitching material dipped in same), then edges of wound brought together and stitched as evenly as possible. Paint edges of the wound with tincture of iodine or apply equal parts oxide of zinc and boric acid or any other reliable commercial dusting powder. Never stitch a wound unless you believe it necessary to hold the tissues together.

PROFITS FROM FARM STOCK

Sheep and Swine Maintained at Ontario College Returned Profit of 12 Per Cent.

A careful record of all cost accounts kept at the Ontario agricultural college, Canada, showed that the sheep and swine maintained on the experiment station farm returned a profit of 12 per cent, after paying all expenses, interest, labor and housing. The dairy herd of 90 head, after paying for feed, bedding, service fees and other expenses, had $2,787 left to pay for labor, interest and use of buildings, on an investment of $14,000. The cost of producing one hundred pounds of milk, as far as feed was concerned, ranged from 56 3/4 cents to $1.25. These figures are for the year 1916.

COLT REQUIRES GOOD CARE

His Efficiency When Mature Is Determined Largely on Attention Given First Summer.

The colt is the work horse of tomorrow and the care he receives during his first summer and fall determines to a large degree his efficiency when mature. It is during the first summer that the colt is most subject to scours. This disease can easily be checked if treated immediately but if allowed to run its course it may prove serious and even fatal.

BROADEN ON ART AND MUSIC

Establishment of Such Departments in Libraries of Large and Small Towns Is Suggested.

In small cities and towns where there are no art museums and no schools of music, there is a great need for the very things they would supply, says the El Paso Times. There is a way to get them without any great expense or trouble. That way lies through the establishment of such departments in the public libraries, whether large or small.

Many libraries in the smaller cities already have the beginnings of very excellent art and music collections. They have not only books about music and art, but collections and musical scores, mounted photographs and prints, and these collections are circulated just as the books are.

One library has a music room where borrowers may try over scores if they wish. The room is sound-proof, so that patrons in other parts of the library are not disturbed when the piano is in use.

Such collections do not have to begin on a large scale. A small beginning would open the way for greater interest in these things, and the department would grow as soon as people realized that it was there for them to use. Everyone interested and able ought to do his or her share to further this branch of community education and service.

PLAN BIG POULTRY RANCHES

Originators of Scheme Propose to Establish Chicken Farms Near Large Cities and Feed Table Scraps.

A scheme to establish great poultry-raising plants in the vicinity of municipalities all over the United States, utilizing the better class of table scraps as a hitherto untapped source of food for the birds, was outlined by T. H. Phillips, a manufacturer of Orange, N. J., the New York Herald states. Mr. Phillips and a number of associates are about to incorporate an organization which will put the idea into practical operation on a poultry farm in New Jersey which represents an investment of $20,000 and is stocked at the present time with 2,500 hens and chickens.

This farm is in the vicinity of one of the smaller New Jersey towns and a system of collections and deliveries is being worked out by which wagons from the farm will call regularly upon the nearby housewives to collect the surplus matter from the dining table.

Put in general operation over the country, the scheme, according to Mr. Phillips, will effect an economy of the wheat, corn and other grains fed to poultry and make them available for man's use in this country and over in France and will increase the supply of eggs and poultry.

PAPER FIBER UNIFORMS.

The clothing of some German prisoners taken by the British was of such a peculiar appearance that the Englishmen decided to analyze it. The uniforms the officers wore, says Popular Science Monthly, were found to have been made of cloth woven from leather fiber, while the enlisted men wore uniforms made from paper fiber. The fabrics resemble the regulation army cloth used for uniforms.

American Books in Russia.

The single American book most widely read in Russia is "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Some of Irving's works were translated for the Muscovite public, and the Russian boys have been thrilled by the doings of Leatherstocking and Uncles. Mark Twain is quite popular beyond the Niemen and the Beresina. All in all, it seems that Russians know more American books than Americans know Russian books.

Ben Franklin's audience was the world, so it does not surprise one to learn from a Russian critic that the first American book translated into Russian was the product of Poor Richard's pen. That was 13 years after he died.

Well Answered.

Recruits Learn to Milk in England's Army of Women

Across in England women are doing strange and wonderful things in many places. The Woman's Land Army is "going in" for the domestic and agricultural arts. The serious phase is that they are doing these things as an aid in war time to the nation. They are filling the places of the men who have gone to fight. At St. Augustine College, one of Canterbury's most ancient buildings, girls are living in the monastery and taking their meals in the thirteenth century dining hall. Some of them are taking lessons in milking in the grounds, or those shown here.

HOME-GROWN SEED IS THE SUREST AND BEST SELECT SEED CORN ENOUGH FOR TWO YEARS For 1918 Plantings and to Insure Adapted Seed for 1919 START RIGHT—NOW!

WHERE?

In the field from standing stalks of a variety that has "made good" and become locally adapted.

HOW?

Pick best ears from plants showing best yields in fair competition with neighboring plants. Storm-proof plants with hanging ears give best seed. Long ears with large, uniform kernels are the best. Avoid sappy ears heavy with water.

WHEN?

As soon as ears are ripe and hard—before heavy frosts or autumn rains injure the kernels for seed. The day the ears are selected they should be hung where they will become thoroughly dry in a few days.

WHY?

It pays. Field selection of seed corn is one of the surest and best paying operations on the farm. Proper care of seed corn pays well. Tests show that properly cared for seed corn has yielded eighteen bushels more per acre than crib-stored seed from the same field.

REPUTATION

Unyielding adherence to principles gives character to a financial institution and safeguards the interests entrusted to it; but it is the individual method employed in business dealings which distinguishes a bank and establishes its reputation. We are proud of ours.

HOME PARADISE TO ADAM

By Home Buying the Consumer Helps Not Only His Town, but Helps Himself—Every Man With a Heart Loves Home and Town—Some Should Be Conscience Stricken.

[Copyrighted, 1914, by Thomas J. Sullivan.]
Only the home can found a state. It is the seminary of all other institutions. There is magic in that little word home. It is a mystic circle that surrounds comforts and virtues never known beyond its hallowed limits.

We need not power or splendor. Wide hall or lordly dome. The good, the true, the tender—These form the wealth of home.

Destroying Your Paradise.
The retail mail order houses are trying to destroy your home and your paradise by inducing you to buy your necessities from them instead of your local merchants, to the injury of your home industries, home market and home town.

There is so much difference in buying goods of a home place of business and ordering them by mail from a catalogue house from a mere picture or description that I want to point out a few facts that many may never have thought of.

May Examine and Select.
At the home store you make your wants known; the salesman shows you the desired article, helps select or suggest the article best suited to your needs.

Thus you have an opportunity to examine the quality, to see the style, to select the size and color, as the case may be; you can compare the different grades, and then if everything is satisfactory and in your judgment the price is right you will make the purchase.

Will Exchange or Refund.
When you get home and upon a rigid examination you find a flaw or mar on your purchase, or the article may be too large or too small, or a black instead of a blue, then the next day or the week after you go to your dealer and explain, and he will gladly exchange the item or refund the money.

Touch of War.

The party of American Congressmen, members of which had narrow escapes from death or injury when they came under German machine gun fire recently while visiting the trenches on the British front in France returned home on an American steamer which arrived last Monday.

The Germans, it appears, noticed the unusual activity in the British trenches caused by the visit of the Congressmen, and thinking a raid was about to begin, opened fire with a battery of machine guns. Some of the Congressmen, who were exposed to the rain of bullets, promptly sought the shelter of the dugouts.

The party included Representatives Clarence C. Dill, John F. Miller and Albert Johnson, of Washington; Edward B. Taylor and Chas. B. Timberlake, of Colorado; Dan. V. Stephens, of Nebraska; Wm. S. Goodwin, of Arkansas, and former Representatives Stout, of Montana and Frederick C. Hicks, of New York.

Cotton 30 Cents.

December cotton crossed the thirty-cent mark on the floor of the New York Cotton Exchange Monday morning and later sold for 30.20, the highest price ever received on the exchange. The big jump was caused by heavy government and trade buying and by further purchases for Liverpool account.

Two Of Our Ships.

The Actaeon, formerly the German ship Adamsturm, seized when war was declared, has been sunk off the Spanish coast. Thirty-one of the 58 on board are missing. Also the American schooner Margaret Roberts was sunk near the Canary islands and the crew was saved.

Tickled With Shoes.

The following details are given of the destruction of the German U-boat last week by an American destroyer: The explosive had disabled the U-boat and forced it down, bumping along the bottom of the sea and striking terror to the hearts of the crew. Then the commander, in order to lighten her, emptied the tanks. To the great delight of the crew, the U-boat responded and arose to the surface with such a rush that some of the Germans were thrown about and injured.

The U-boat appeared on the surface within several hundred feet of an American destroyer. The submarine's hatch flew open and the Germans scrambled out of the conning tower coatless and shoeless ready to swim for it. They lined up along the narrow deck with hands in the air shouting: "Kamerad."

The U-boat remained stationary and the destroyer moved close up and heaved a line which the Germans made fast. This was no sooner done than it became apparent that the Germans had succeeded in opening the sea cocks, for the submarine began to settle. As she did so the Germans leaped into the water and swam toward the destroyer. Some of the American sailors jumped into the sea to rescue the injured.

As the last German was lifted on board the destroyer, the hawser attached to the U-boat parted under the strain and the U-boat went down.

All the Germans were given steaming hot coffee and dry clothing and were otherwise made comfortable for the run to the base. But one of their number, a machinist, had suffered greatly from shock and exposure and died on the way. He was buried with full naval honors from the deck of the destroyer, the American commander officiating at what was the first funeral service so far held in this war on an American destroyer.

When the destroyer reached her base the prisoners were almost entirely clad in American naval outfits. They appeared especially fond of the American shoes, which were the first they had ever worn.

Wade Dies of Injuries.

The third death as the result of the auto accident Sunday at noon, which cost the lives of Mrs. John W. Emission and Mrs. James Wade Emission, occurred Monday morning, when James Wade, one of the most prominent men and distinguished citizens of Vincennes, Ind., passed away at the Good Samaritan Hospital. He was 50 years of age and had been practicing law in Knox county since 1888. He was graduated from DePauw University in 1882.

He was a firm Republican and on several occasions declined to make the race for the nomination for Governor on the Republican ticket.

Sustains Leg Fracture.

Rev. J. B. Eshman, now of Conway, Mo., had one of his legs broken by an accident a few days ago. He was formerly pastor of the C. P. church here.

At Seventy, Clemenceau is Again Premier of France

The man who instituted the campaign against the German propagandists in France, the issue which caused the fall of the Poincaré Cabinet, has again been called to the control of the Cabinet in France. Ex-Premier George Clemenceau, now seventy years old, has returned to official life with a new purpose, at the suggestion of President Poincaré. He has organized a new Cabinet with himself as Premier, and is again at the helm in France, vigorous as ever and with a display of the same fighting instinct which won him the title of "tiger" during the days of the war.

Commit This To Memory.

Homer McKee once wrote a prayer, and among other things he said: "Teach me that sixty minutes make one hour, sixteen ounces one pound, and one hundred cents one dollar."

"Help me to live so that I can lie down at night with a clear conscience, without a gun under my pillow, and unharmed by the faces of those to whom I have brought pain."

"Grant, I beseech Thee, that I may earn my meal ticket on the square, and in doing thereof that I may not stick the gaff where it does not belong."

"Deafen me to the jingle of tainted money and the rustle of unholy skirts. Blind me to the faults of the other fellow, but reveal to me mine own."

"Guide me so that each night when I look across the dinner table at my wife, who has been a blessing to me, I will have nothing to conceal."

"Keep me young enough to laugh with my children and to lose myself in their play."

"And then, when come the smell of flowers, and the tread of soft steps, and the crushing of the hearse's wheels in the gravel out in front of my place, make the ceremony short and the epitaph simple: 'Here Lies a Man.'"—Toledo Rotarian.

Spanish cotton imports are decreasing.

Concrete piles have been driven nine feet into the coral rock of Honolulu with 3,100 blows of an ordinary drop hammer.

Government Operation.

Government operation of the railroads during the war looms as an increasing possibility in the minds of officials, who, with the railroad heads, are trying to work out a plan for relief of the eastern traffic situation. Apparently it is conceded that if the pooling system to be undertaken by the railroads themselves does not solve the problem, the government will take over the operation of the roads as one system.

The pooling plan calls for a joint use of tracks, locomotives, cars and employes in the congested centers.

Norway has 3,265 ships in merchant fleet.

Named for Madisonville.

Madisonville, Ky., Nov. 28.—At a meeting of the recently elected council, the following city officials were appointed to serve for the next two years: Chief of Police, J. H. Ashby; patrolmen, W. E. Ashby, Tom Barnett; tax collector, Harry Scott; city engineer, George Flannigan; lockup keeper, J. T. Lamb; assessor, Matt Adams; treasurer, W. T. Ruby. The new officers take charge Dec. 1.

Over 70,000 cities and towns in the United States use 9,151,211 telephones.

Spain's commerce in 1916 totaled $479,872,322, of which $230,664,23 represented imports.
